CAREER TIP · SAVE THIS

How to ask for a hike (and get it).

When to ask, what to say,
and what to do if they say no. 👉

STEP 1 · TIMING

Pick the right moment

✅ 4 to 6 weeks before appraisals

✅ Right after a big win or delivery

✅ When you've taken on more work

❌ Not by email first, ask for a meeting

STEP 2 · PREPARE

Bring proof, not feelings

- 📌 3 wins, with the impact they made
- 📌 New responsibilities you've taken on
- 📌 Market pay for your role and experience
- 📌 Your number, plus a range you'd accept

STEP 3 · WHAT TO SAY

Use this script

"Over the last year I've delivered [win] and taken on [new work]. Based on that and market rates for this role, I'd like to discuss moving my pay to [number]. What would it take to get there?"

Then stop talking and listen. 🤐

IF THEY SAY NO

Turn a no into a plan

➡️ Ask exactly what you need to achieve

➡️ Agree on a date to review it again

➡️ Get it in writing, even an email

➡️ Ask about other levers: title, WFH, learning budget

STILL A NO?

Sometimes the hike is a new job.

Be ready: make your Digital Resume free and share one link with recruiters.
debuggersspace.com

💾 Save · Send to a colleague